Fireside Chat

Sorry about not getting a newsletter out last month — our last had all of the events through July 4th listed, so you didn't miss knowing about something if you're not online. ☺

Late June Dave (from Irvine) and I had a wonderful weekend getaway at DeAnza Springs Resort in Jacumba, which is about a 2.5 hour drive for most of the guys reading this newsletter, possibly a bit more if you're far from the 5 or 405. Jacumba is a small high desert town East of San Diego, and about 40 miles North of Mexico.

The 500+ acre resort is fully clothing-optional, except for the pools & spa, which are nude mandatory.

Unlike some nudist resorts, this one has no problems with single guys or gay folk! —In fact, Dave and I met a gay couple up from San Diego on Sunday. The one guy had a fairly large gauge "Prince Albert" piercing that I admired, and it told me that D.S. has no problems with piercings, either! (Some resorts ask you to remove genital piercings.)

Literally, all you needed to bring was a beach towel (any maybe a regular one or a 2nd) if you're staying the day - and perhaps just the beach towel if you're staying overnight, as they had cafe & store there where you could buy food, bottled water, sodas, etc, plus there were vending machines for soda as well. -You could bill things to your acct., vs. having to pay cash or carry your credit card with you when you went to the cafe. (Not 100% sure of the store, but I suspect it was the same.)

We had one of their mobile home rentals for the night Sat., which had full utilities (no phone), and included DirecTV. A full sized fridge was nice & cold, complete with ice trays! They even had a microwave, coffee maker, pots, pans, dishes, silverware, coffee, tea, etc! It was like an extended stay hotel room. The place also had it's own charcoal grill & picnic table on a covered outdoor patio. All unit rentals got towels & maid service. (BYO if day pass or getting a camping site.)

The grounds was reminiscent of a state or county park campgrounds, including the showers in the restroom near the office.

They have two pools, one indoors & one out. The pools were probably around 86-90, but during the day the air temp is a bit warmer at it's peak, so the water all seemed cool at first.

The Jacuzzi is fairly large - occupancy listed as 9, but it could easily hold 12 if the water level was lower.

We looked at their "motel" rooms - about the same size as a small motel - just looks narrow on the outside. They also have satellite TV & larger mini-fridge.

All of the rental units had some sort of A/C or "swamp cooler". (Despite it being 90+ out, our places' swamp cooler got it down to the low-mid 70's easily, since the humidity was so low.)

My kudos to their chef at the "Desert Flower Cafe"... The prices are a tad more than at fast food places, but less than many other restaurants, and I really enjoyed their fish tacos and other food we ordered.

It was REALLY GREAT not having to wear any clothing inside or out for a full 24 hours!

Our bi members & guests would have loved the place as well, as the women there were in better shape than most of the guys there.

Check out our calendar for our upcoming Sept. outing at DeAnza Springs! —You interested?!?

Reminder: Due to postage increases effective in May, as well as increased fees for our web site presence, we're announcing a small increase ($2.50) in the rate of our printed newsletter membership to $20.00 per year, effective June 1st.

On-Going Item Reminders

Lifetime membership is now $100 for singles & $150 for couples from now until October 1st.

College/university students and others (IE: Seniors) on a limited income special rate of $5.00/year for electronic newsletters only.

Membership & Donation Drive

Keep in mind can really use some publicity to get new members (and more members means more event hosts, too!), and the best way of doing that is by getting a booth at the Long Beach Pride festival!

If you are interested in helping us out, please join us as a member with electronic membership and/or make a donation to the group. (FYI: Printed newsletter membership doesn't really go much [just cents] beyond printing & mailing costs.)

We are accepting donations via the same channels as our membership (see last page for address & pay to, or go to our main or payments pages to find a donation button).

B-MEN is (Still!) Looking for a Few Good Men...

...To help by being an online and/or phone contact person for the group.

Your own personal number will not be given out, unless you elect to leave a (discrete unless they say otherwise!) message for the person you've called back asking him to call you back. —You simply monitor your e-mail for these voicemail messages and/or call the number and enter a PIN I'll provide to pick-up the messages.

In exchange for helping call and/or e-mail guys, you'll get a free membership (with electronic newsletters) for as long as you'll preform said duties for us.

Who is this Celebrity Guy?

In the last issue, the celebrity of the month was Kerr Smith from an unknown movie, and he played the god Aries on the "Hercules" TV series a few years back.

The answer to who is shown here will be in the next issue.

A hint: He played a cripple in the future in a movie several years back.

(You might also tell them to check out this site & forum for body-shyness & body-image issues of all kinds, including nudity, being pee-shy, penis size, or just taking off your shirt in public:
